

National Databank

Like a foodbank but for mobile data, the National Databank provides free mobile SIM cards to help digitally excluded people get connected.

Netherton Library is now a National Data Bank Centre

How does the National Databank work?

Good Things Foundation created the National Databank with Virgin Media O2, supported by Vodafone and Three.

It works like this:

Come into Netherton Library L30 3TL (Netherton Activity Centre)
Speak with a Library staff member about this new initiative
Sim cards will renew every 30days for 6months

What is the National Databank?

It provides free mobile SIM cards for people who need internet connectivity, calls and texts.

We have become a Databank because we want everyone to benefit from internet connectivity through affordable and safe access.
